

Solutions:

It depends on the design of the garment and on the prescription of the users information:

- 1) If the opening is an adjustment system intended to be potentially left open during riding (according to users information) there shall be SSL material inside the opening;
- 2) If the opening is intended to be a ventilation system intended to be potentially left open during riding (according to user information) it shall be assessed as ventilation system;
- 3) If the information for users prescribes that the opening at wrist shall be closed when riding the structural closures will be tested and shall pass the Zone requirements.
