Clause:

Key words: Sole design

Question:

A boot manufacturer send us 3 sizes for the CE marking of a product but one of the sizes has a different outsole design.

He explains that the 3 shapes of sole have an equivalent philosophy. He wants to have one certificate for the product.

Is it acceptable?

Solution:

These products must be on two certificates (one for each outsole mould design).

Each certificate to be supported by its own set of tests based on that particular outsole design.
